Dear Friends,

Thanks to you, our generous philanthropic community, Lake Health Foundation experienced outstanding support during 2012 and 2013. In fact, in 2013, for only the second time in our history, Lake Health received over $2,000,000 in gifts to fund initiatives that support our mission of local access, healing with compassion and superior quality. Words cannot express our gratitude.

Community support was exemplified in the successful campaign to raise funds for the much-anticipated Wellness Walk at the TriPoint Medical Center Campus in Concord Township. Because of your giving and participation, the walk, which will be completed in spring 2014, will be a community asset fully funded through philanthropy.

Encouraged by your generosity, we are proud to share this annual report highlighting our donors, their gifts and the resulting successes. The report has been designed to introduce you to a few of our many friends who were willing to share how and why they prioritize Lake Health with their philanthropy. We hope you enjoy their stories and share our gratitude and excitement for the future.

Whether you support Lake Health through annual giving, special events, a major or planned gift, or through the giving of your time, please know that it is you who allow us to achieve any and all of our successes.

Most sincerely,

Greg Sanders

The Heartbeat of Supplemental Funds
What do volunteer fire departments and big city orchestras have in common? Auxiliaries: the heartbeat of supplemental funding.

Filling holes to provide for every-day needs and special opportunities, volunteer auxiliaries plan everything from spaghetti dinners to sales and raffles to cocktail parties.

Funding provided to Lake Health by its all-volunteer Auxiliary makes new services possible and boosts the programs of existing services. And, believe it or not, the majority of their bankroll comes from your hospital gift shop purchases, while additional funds accrue through their special holiday candy sales, Masquerade jewelry sale, Dillard’s sale, and other fundraising events.

Jeanne Babcock, president of the Lake Health Auxiliary, is part of the 12-member Auxiliary board and has been a volunteer for 21 years.

"Volunteering enriches your life in so many ways," says Jeanne. "We can lend a hand to ease someone’s day or simply give a smile to someone in need of encouragement. I’m so honored and proud to be part of the Auxiliary, giving to our community’s health and wellness services."

Lake Health is privileged to have nearly 1,000 dedicated and compassionate volunteers, ages 14 to 90+, who possess a special character of giving, generosity, and selflessness. Providing more than 104,000 hours of volunteer service in 2012, they are truly exceptional people with extraordinary hearts.

Each year, Lake Health Foundation presents the Auxiliary board with programs or services in vital need of funding and asks them to choose which to support. In recent years, the Auxiliary gave $250,000 to TriPoint’s construction, earning them recognition for the waterfall in the team member Gratitude Garden. They also covered the total cost of $170,000 for the hyperbaric chamber in the Wound Care Center at West Medical Center.

Because the principal of the Auxiliary’s $1 million-plus permanently restricted endowment is held in perpetuity, the income generated is used to provide support for vital Lake Health needs. Recently, those funds were used to support the Balance Center and purchased Bi-Plane X-ray equipment for the Electrophysiology Lab – a crucial part of Lake Health’s Heart and Vascular Center.

In 2012, the Auxiliary gave $50,000 to the SAN E (Sexual Assault Nurse Examiners) program in addition to a contribution to the endowment fund.

The Auxiliary’s greatest value? They are an essential part of Lake Health’s success, because who they are and what they do improve patient- and family-centered care, resulting in improved patient satisfaction and improved patient outcomes. And that’s why we’re here.
Sweet!
Northeast Ohio is home to The Hershey Foundation, and while they may not offer chocolate kisses, they do make the future a lot sweeter for local children.

Loyal and generous to Lake Health Foundation, The Hershey Foundation first gave grant funding to the 2008 Building for the Future Capital Campaign to help build TriPoint Medical Center. That gift funded the Level II Special Care Nursery and other needs in TriPoint’s Family Birthing Center.

Their generosity continued in 2012 when they teamed up with Lake Health Foundation in the Special Care Nursery Partnership Program, presenting a SwaddleMe® Infant Wrap to the parents of our littlest patients born at TriPoint and cared for in the Special Care Nursery. Especially important in nurturing preemie infants, wraps recreate the warm and enveloping protection of the womb. Soothing and positioning the newborn, the wraps help prevent sudden infant death syndrome (SIDS) and reduce colic and startle reflex symptoms, allowing both infants and parents longer periods of undisturbed sleep.

“When I heard that Lake Health physicians and nursing staff were hoping for support in providing swaddles to Special Care Nursery infants, I knew the program would be a perfect ‘fit’ for our funding,” explained Hershey Foundation President Debra Hershey Guren. “Our foundation’s mission is to provide Northeast Ohio children with special opportunities for growth and development, and we have a special interest in providing start-up support for innovative programming and equipment that brings new capabilities to organizations. This opportunity is a great match for us.”

But the grant funding goes a giant step further. Hershey invites all parents of infants born in the Family Birthing Centers at TriPoint and West medical centers to participate in a unique Parent-Infant Program, a $350 value offered free of charge. In 16 sessions, parents learn about their infant’s (2-12 months) development, drives and tendencies in the “Young Child Community” at the Hershey Montessori School’s Concord Campus.

It’s a sweet beginning, thanks to The Hershey Foundation grant!
In 2010, the administrator for the rehabilitation and extended care facility Wickliffe Country Place and Jim Wilson, chief operating officer of its parent company, Legacy Health Services, contacted Lake Health Foundation to get details about the Glitz. They chose not only to attend the Glitz, but also to be a major sponsor for the annual fundraiser. Since that first sponsorship in 2010, their generosity has continued each year.

Wickliffe Country Place is a 170-bed skilled rehabilitation and extended care residence featuring a natural setting, short- and long-term rehabilitation, private suites, a heart failure program, memory care and more.

Lake Health works with Wickliffe Country Place and several other local rehabilitation and extended care facilities to build better hospital discharge and after-care relationships, find ways to help patients and families in need, reduce fear and ease transitions. Together, they believe their relationships are pushing patient outcomes in the right direction.

“We value that relationship and are strong advocates for Lake Health and the entire local health care team,” says Missy Schaefer, administrator for Wickliffe Country Place. “It’s extraordinary to have such an extensive community health system, and working together as a team benefits everyone’s health.”

Clarifying Legacy Health Services’ interest in supporting Lake Health Foundation, Jim Wilson explains, “Legacy’s owner supports charitable efforts locally and globally. He has a humble sense of obligation rooted in his own modest upbringing; he understands need.”

Jim and Missy see the Glitz as a great evening of good food in a fun environment, surrounded by positive people – doctors, professionals and business owners – who come together to further the goal to see Lake Health improve and grow.

For Wickliffe Country Place and Legacy Health Services, sponsorship of the Glitz and, just recently, the Foundation’s annual golf outing, are the best ways to support Lake Health without specifically designating how funds are spent.
Giving
More
Made
Easier
Do you ever wish you could afford to give more to a worthy cause?

Long-time supporters of Lake Health and Lake Health Foundation, Duane and Jeanne Lipps, felt that way. Duane, a financial planner, has served for 30 years on the hospital system and foundation boards, and has been the Foundation’s Planned Giving Chair since 1996. Jeanne, former board member and executive director for the Lake County Free Clinic, volunteers for Lake Health Foundation and also served as Glitz Chair.

They both wanted to give more to Lake Health but didn’t want to put their own financial future at greater risk. So in 2012, they decided to leave a portion of their estate to the Lake Health Foundation endowment fund when they pass on.

“An estate endowment is an extremely valuable and painless way for anyone to give without affecting their standard of living now,” explained Duane. “You can maintain your present wealth for whatever you face in your future, while having the satisfaction of knowing that a portion of your estate will benefit Lake Health’s future.”

While an estate commitment isn’t a substitute for the vital annual and lifetime gifts needed now, Duane believes it’s an underutilized method of giving that allows almost anyone to gift a larger amount than they could offer on an annual basis. And, as an endowment, with the principal maintained and only the interest spent, the funding becomes a gift in perpetuity: an easy donor gift with a high benefit guarantee for Lake Health’s future.
Seeing Dreams Come True
Cousins Ashley Collins and Ricky Stanzi are living their dreams.

For years their Mentor families, dedicated sports fans, balanced on the edge of their seats and emotions as the Browns, Indians and Cavaliers took us through the highs and lows of Cleveland’s sports seasons. Ricky donned his first football jersey in the second grade, played for Lake Catholic High School and the University of Iowa and today is quarterback for the Jacksonville Jaguars. Ashley was a cheerleader for Lake Catholic, graduated from Kent State University and is now a television anchor for SportsTime Ohio.

Not only living their own dreams, Ashley and Ricky are living the success and happiness their grandmother, Lena Stanzi, and Ashley’s mom, Annette Collins, dreamed for them. Annette was Ricky’s biggest fan, cheering him through every game.

But Lena and Annette never got to see Ashley and Ricky’s great success. Both lost their battles with breast cancer in prior years.

“We watched my mom and grandmother go through incredible struggles just to manage daily life while in treatment,” said Ashley, “and we wanted to do something to make life a little easier for others in the same situation.”

So they combined their success, love for family and sympathy for others in the battle against breast cancer. They chose to support Lake Health because Lena and Annette had received compassionate cancer care and treatment in the Lake Health/University Hospital Seidman Cancer Center (LH/UHSCC) at the Lake Health Mentor Campus.

In 2012, they hosted their first benefit golf outing in memory of Lena and Annette and raised $9,000 to benefit Lake Health’s Breast Health Services.

In a meeting with Breast Health coordinator Kim Mamrack, Ashley spoke about Grandma Stanzi’s great cooking and how hard it was for Annette to eat certain things and cook for the family while going through chemotherapy and radiation treatments. That nailed it. They decided to use some of the golf outing funds to provide breast cancer patients with a special cookbook. Eating Well Through Cancer by Holly Clegg and Gerald Miletello, MD, contains family-friendly menus and recipes that are easy to prepare along with recommendations for dealing with side effects during and after cancer treatments.

“There’s no tougher situation, so we want to help people feel as comfortable as possible while going through treatment,” said Ricky.

“And because there’s no cure yet, anything that can be done to ease and support the patient and family going through treatment is a huge accomplishment,” added Ashley.

Today, thanks to Ashley and Ricky’s compassion, success and generosity, Lake Health Foundation manages the Annette Collins & Lena Stanzi Memorial Fund, benefitting breast cancer services.
Feel the Passion
Nurses give their all to restore health and wellness in their patients.

JoAnn Ramsey, RN, age 81 and now retired, worked for Lake Health from 1969 to 2000. But her passion for patient care continues. She supports the system by volunteering for and donating to Lake Health Foundation, and serves on the Foundation board as Grant Committee Chair.

When her husband passed away in 1990, still active in patient care, JoAnn established the William J. Ramsey Nursing Education Fund in his honor because she understood nursing’s huge need for education excellence. And knowing that there are vital needs for funding throughout the health system, she has been an ongoing donor to the Foundation’s “unrestricted funds.”

“The Foundation has a goal to see Lake County become the healthiest county in Ohio and they’re dedicated to seeing that goal become a reality,” said JoAnn. “That’s a passion I share.”

It’s no surprise that she’s especially pleased when unrestricted funds support patient programs such as diabetes and OB education, breast cancer awareness and outstanding community wellness programs, including B.E. S.T.R.O.N.G., the Wellness Walk, the Wellness Institute and Senior Connection.

“These are just a few of the many key pieces I know will help shape the wellness of the community and Lake Health’s future success.

“As a nurse, I always felt privileged to have Lake Health in our community; it’s such a valuable asset! And it would be so gratifying to see Lake County get excited about Lake Health and its own community wellness, becoming the healthiest county in Ohio!”
Healthy partnerships encourage healthy living.

When Asa Cox was young, her family never owned a home. Her experiences taught her that home ownership promotes self-worth and that homeowners are more connected to their community. It was no surprise then that, as an adult, she pursued a career in real estate and created her own company, Asa Cox Homes.

Asa has never forgotten how important home ownership and community are. She provides many potential home-buyers with special financial assistance through grants and loans, and her office staff helps with personal financial management, making it possible for even low wage-earners to purchase a home.

Focused on community support as well, Asa gives a portion of every transaction to her own 501(c)3 non-profit organization, Asa’s Angels, which reaches out to local, needy children.

To benefit community health, Asa Cox Homes partnered with Lake Health and Lake Health Foundation. “I’m really proud to partner with Lake Health because they’re not only my community’s health system, they’re my health system,” Asa says.

A generous donation from Asa Cox Homes and CrossCountry Mortgage, Inc., helps to support the exceptional care required for the tiny, special-needs infants born at Lake Health.

To educate the community on important health topics, Asa’s business sponsors live radio broadcasts held at Lake Health locations. WELW (1330 AM) broadcasts air the first and third Tuesday of every month from 3 – 4 pm, and WKKY (104.7 FM) broadcasts air the second and fourth Thursday of every month from 12 – 2 pm. They feature guest physicians and health professionals, information on health-related events, and discussions on a variety of health subjects.

Asa Cox Homes also provides new homeowners with a packet of Lake Health information and giveaways. “I give the packet out because I want families to know about and experience the tremendous health care we have right here.”

In response to Asa’s generosity and in aid to the community, the Lake Health team supports Asa’s Angels. Physicians, nurses and other Lake Health team members donate gifts, time and expertise for Angel events and collections, including the Turkey Bowl, Christmas gift collection, Easter baskets and the Lake County Back to School event.

“It’s a true partnership, each one helping the other for the benefit of the community,” says Greg Sanders, executive director, Lake Health Foundation.
